NOMINATION FORM
FOR THE OUSTANDING STUDENT AWARD

The Outstanding Student Award was created to recognize exceptional service to NACE/NACE Foundation, a NACE student chapter, or the ACC Student Sub-committee. To be considered exceptional, the student's participation must be recognized as significant to the growth of NACE or positively influencing the education of current or future students in the fields of corrosion science and engineering.

The nomination must include statements and specific outcomes that substantiate the student nominee's exceptional service to NACE. Nominations without such details will not be considered. Meritorious work to the Foundation will be evaluated on the basis of results achieved. Presentations, publications, volunteer service, or technical performance or achievements will also have influence the selection of the recipient.

Nominations for this award may come from NACE members, NACE Areas or Sections, past recipients, ACC Student Subcommittee, or institution administrators/professors familiar with the student's background and efforts. The nominee must be a current student member of NACE in good standing. No posthumous nominations will be accepted. Past recipients are not eligible for subsequent nominations. The nomination form must be submitted to the NACE Foundation for verification that the nomination meets the criteria of this award. Award winners will be selected by the NACE Foundation Board of Directors.
