NACE Foundation
Sponsorship Opportunities

MAKE A DIFFERENCE...

As experienced corrosion professionals approach retirement age, fewer individuals are pursuing careers in science, engineering, technology and math to take their place.

A declining workforce means a diminishing ability to keep up with corrosion prevention demands. Corrosion control and prevention of the world's aging infrastructure is a major concern. Fewer experienced corrosion professionals to address these issues ultimately affects the ability for NACE to protect people, assets, and the environment from the effects of corrosion.

The NACE Foundation is taking action to address these issues. We are the only organization dedicated to preparing the future generation of corrosion professionals who will protect the world's infrastructure from the effects of corrosion.

Sponsoring a NACE Foundation event provides the unique opportunity to connect with others in the corrosion community and to show your company's support of the future of this industry.

AND HAVE FUN DOING IT!

ONE STUDENT AT A TIME...

Since 2006, the Foundation has distributed more than $1,130,000 in scholarship funds and another $326,000 in travel assistance to deserving students who have demonstrated a drive to succeed in the areas of science, technology, engineering and math.

During NACE's spring CORROSION conference, the NACE Foundation hosts a day-long mini-camp to educate and spread corrosion awareness to the future of our industry.

Local high school students are invited to participate in hands-on corrosion related activities, utilizing the Foundation's cKit™ (Corrosion Toolkit), and learn several basic scientific principles of corrosion, such as oxidation, electrochemistry, and the activity series of metals.

Students are also given the opportunity to learn about research and career opportunities from industry professionals and university students while touring the CORROSION show floor.

ONE TEACHER AT A TIME...

The cKit™ is a corrosion toolkit developed by the NACE Foundation as a fun and challenging learning experience for students and a hands-on curriculum for high school teachers to inspire and educate their students on corrosion and corrosion science.

The NACE Foundation partners with the ASM Materials Education Foundation to fund and organize week-long summer camps for high school science, math and technology teachers. These camps are organized on local college / university campuses and are free for attending teachers.

The camps provide teachers with innovative, exciting, and fun methods for (1) teaching materials science in the high school classroom and (2) exciting students about career fields in materials technologies and engineering, including corrosion control.

ONE VETERAN AT A TIME...

In order to address the growing workforce need, the NACE Foundation is committed to helping U.S. veterans receive the training and support they need to find rewarding careers in the corrosion industry.

The program provides up to two NACE courses, travel, housing and meals, and participants complete the training with a NACE level 1 certification. A mentor is also provided to assist with morale, networking opportunities and job placement.

Join us and help our returning heroes take their place once again in our society as valued members of the workforce, helping to mitigate corrosion.
